

THE NEW 1923 FIVE PASSENGER
HAYNES 77
SPORT BROUGHAM

The Exclusive Character inherent in the Brougham and the advanced spirit of the newer style in motor cars—conservatism and ultra-modernism—have met and blended to produce the Haynes 77 Sport Brougham of 1923.

Many and appreciative are the glances attracted by the harmonious beauty of line attained by the exterior design, which reckons every desirable accessory as a fundamental part of the car. Glistening bumpers front and rear, sun and vision visor, full crown fenders, individual steps, disc wheels, six cord tires and tubes, a spacious trunk and protection bars in rear—all these belong as naturally to the Haynes 77 Sport Brougham as the new and perfected Haynes 77 motor, performing silently beneath the stately hood.

In the pleasingly warmed interior, there is the divan-like comfort and intimacy produced by the companionable seating arrangement; and the quiet good taste of appointment makes it "the car complete."
