

THE NEW 1923 SEVEN PASSENGER
HAYNES 77
SUBURBAN

From the strict formality of a two compartment, chauffeur-driven car to the pleasant informality of a car where the owner sits at the wheel and converses with his friends in a single enclosure, is the transition of a moment with the new 1923 Haynes 77 Suburban. The change is accomplished by lifting or lowering a plate-glass partition, behind the driver's seat.

Thus is the fundamental distinction of the Haynes Suburban of other years embodied in an automobile which is eloquent of Haynes advanced design and refinement. Blue Spanish leather upholstery in front, rich and serviceable fabric upholstery in rear, vanity and smoking cases, a chaste dome light and car heater combine to make a most grateful interior. Power—immense and smooth—is supplied by the perfected Haynes 77 six cylinder engine, and the exterior has all the niceties and beauty of equipment which distinguish the Haynes 77 standard models of the present year.

The true desirability of this Haynes will impress all who see it on the road or in the display rooms of Haynes dealers.
