

Put away the boring bar—

we've done it for you!

Now we've scooped out Fairlane's V-8 to 289 cubes . . . 271 h.p.! This, friend, is a real stormer! Solid lifters, 4-barrel carb, the whole bit. Can you think of better news for the guy who wants solid, off-the-line punch from a gem-size power plant? Tie this savage little winder to a four-speed floor shift, tuck it into Fairlane's no-fat body shell, and you've got a going-handling combo that's mighty hard to beat...and we mean that both ways! The factory overbore is better than doing it yourself . . . you know the cores are in the right place, and the bottom end is tested to take the kind of rpm this V-8 churns out! So put away the boring bar and check your friendly Ford Dealer; he'll show you what 289 cubes can do.
