Review: Petersen's "Wonderful World of Wheels" TV Spectacular

Sunday Driver.

Richard Petty does his most spectacular driving on Sunday afternoons. Since the '66 NASCAR season opened, Petty and his Hemi-engined Plymouth Belvedere have rewritten the qualifying lap records on just about every track in the Grand National circuit. And first place in this year's Daytona "500" went to Petty with an all-time race record average of 160.625 mph. Of course, Petty's Hemi Belvedere isn't for sale at your Plymouth Dealer's... even if you wanted one. It was built just for racing.

But Petty races a Plymouth for a lot of the same reasons so many people buy the production version of the Plymouth. Things like torsion-bar front suspension, Asymmetrical rear springs. And a complete package of safety features like safety door handles... all standard equipment. And options like disc brakes, heavy-duty suspension, limited-slip differential and a choice of engines on up to the street version of the 426 Hemi. And the same history of reliability that makes the race car a winner. So see your Plymouth Dealer and check out one of the '66 Plymouths... they're winners Monday through Saturday too.
