ABOVE: You better believe it! Rich Guasco couldn't have picked a more appropriate name than 'Pure Hell' for his 7-second fuel Altered. Fuel fans should check out pages 36-37 and 42-45 for the full poop on what's really happening. COVER: Boss Wrench of CARS—Marty Schorr—captured this 466-inch Chevy mill on Ektachrome before it was readied for installation in the magazine's A/MP Camaro. It was used for showroom display use prior to the race car installation.

RUMBLE BEE

Want to start something?

Try a hot-cammed 383-cube mill in a light coupe body.

Just for kicks, throw in the heavy-duty suspension, oversized brakes, a brute of a hood, bumblebee stripes—the works. It's tough. Check the price. Good news!

Dodge has started something all right. Super Bee.

Why sit there dreaming when you could be running? See the man with the cars with the bumblebee stripes.

Your Dodge Dealer.
