The Sleeper Awakes

'69 Chevy Nova SS. Up and at 'em!

Louvers on the front fenders, a bulging hood and a throbbing exhaust note let people know this one's no imitation.

Backing up a standard 300-hp V8 is a muscular foundation: special suspension, an extra-tough clutch, red stripe wide ovals on 7" wide wheels, a special 3-speed and power disc brakes.

The '69 Chevy Nova SS, the car that woke up swinging.

Putting you first, keeps us first.
